

The perfect seal is yours.
We just manufacture them.

Quality and discretion for our customers.

You will find Watermann Polyworks everywhere you find construction and sealing. On behalf of our renowned customers from the international building supplies industry, we produce a wide range of sealing tapes, waterproofing membranes and corresponding system components such as sealing collars and corner tape.

We ship products and packaging with the brand logos of our customers.

In all that we do for you, the name Watermann Polyworks is always in the background.

You can work with plastic and still have iron principles.

Watermann Polyworks is an owner-managed family concern that manufactures exclusively in Germany and obtains all raw materials from Europe. This is for three good reasons.

The most important: Our major international customers from the building industry have been trusting in the outstanding quality of our products for many years. We will not disappoint them just to save a few cents by manufacturing in Asia.

Second: We are proud of our works in Germany. Our two factories and warehouses in Detmold and Lage operate with the latest technology and have sufficient capacity to substitute for each other in an emergency. This guarantees production security.

Principle number three: We wish to manufacture with a clear conscience in all regards. This applies equally to the strict imperative not to use any materials that endanger the environment as also to the working conditions at our factories. We do not have a hire and fire policy. We do not push down wage costs by taking on temporary workers. Good apprentices are always hired after training. Overall this creates a family work atmosphere of which we are proud.

We make your brand a success and discreetly remain in the background.

Depending on the markets you supply, we will naturally tailor your product to international building standards such as the European ETAG 022 standard or ANSI A118.10 in the USA.

Our products and standards.

Our sealing is in demand in the private and commercial construction or conversion of bathrooms, terraces, cellars and roofs. In the public sector it is used in swimming pools, hotels, industrial kitchens and nursing homes. You'll find it everywhere where a high demand is placed on the quality of the seals because of special legal requirements. Our products in the tiling range are made of polypropylene and rubber-modified polypropylenes. Seals for cellars and roofs may also contain a proportion of polyester. All Watermann Polyworks products comply with international building standards such as the European ETAG 022 standard or ANSI A118.10 in the USA.

Private label.

Watermann Polyworks has been producing sealing tape, waterproofing membranes and system components in the name of major international customers for years. Every item is individually customised for you and made in line with your wishes. You decide the colour, shape and properties. We are very open to new product ideas. Simply come to us with your plans and let us create your product together.
